

8. fia-YEi>A

of numerous (foes), gave augmentation tu wie well;¹

with such (protections) come hither.

13. I address the ASWENS, glorifying them at break of day ; we solicit them with oblations.

14. We adore those lords of water, leaders on the road of battle,* in the evening, at dawn, and at midday; therefore,, EUBEAS who are rich in food, give us aot up hereafter to a mortal adversary.

15. Adorable ASWDSFS, bring in your chariot at early dawn happiness to me, soliciting happiness:

I, SOBHABI, invoke you as (did my) father.

16. (AswiNs), who ure swift as thought, the showerers (of benefits), prostrators of the arrogant, the givers of enjoyment to many, be ever nigh anto us, for our security, with many and prompt protections.

17. Aswras, of goodly aspect, leaders (of rites),- deep drinkers of the Soma juice, come to our dwelling, abounding with horses, with cattle, with gold.

18. May we obtain from you (wealth) spontaneously bestowed, comprising excellent strength, such as is desired by all, and unassailable by 8r powerful (foe) : may we obtain -from you who are rich invfood, upon your coming hither, all good things.

¹ See vol. i. p. 289, note a. [The Aswins miraculously filled the well with water, and so rescued 7andana.~]

* JRvdravartani, see suprd on v. 1.